

Abstract of the Disclosure

An apparatus for mounting an optical device includes an adhesive pad having two substantially planar faces coated with an adhesive that facilitates mounting the optical device to a circuit board so the optical device remains affixed through a range
5 of operating temperature and pressures.

10085267.022702